The Morvan forest, at the heart of public debate, reflects a rich history: medieval nursery forest, timber rafting to Paris, then modern softwood plantations. These transformations have left a lasting mark on the forest landscape. Vincent Balland, Doctor of Environmental History, and Jean Cacot, from the Mont Beuvray forestry laboratory, reveal the traces of this history, highlighting the impact of this heritage on today's ecosystems.

The Morvan forest, at the heart of public debate, reflects a rich history: medieval nursery forest, timber rafting to Paris, then modern softwood plantations. These transformations have left a lasting mark on the forest landscape. Vincent Balland, Doctor of Environmental History, and Jean Cacot, from the Mont Beuvray forestry laboratory, reveal the traces of this history, highlighting the impact of this heritage on today's ecosystems.

The Morvan forest, at the heart of public debate, reflects a rich history: medieval nursery forest, timber rafting to Paris, then modern softwood plantations. These transformations have left a lasting mark on the forest landscape. Vincent Balland, Doctor of Environmental History, and Jean Cacot, from the Mont Beuvray forestry laboratory, reveal the traces of this history, highlighting the impact of this heritage on today's ecosystems.

Prieuré du Val Saint Benoît - 71360 EPINAC
+33 3 85 82 04 32

The Prieuré du Val Saint Benoît is a historic site of monastic life dating back to the 13th century. Today, a community of contemplative nuns lives on the site of the former Priory. The Priory's listed monuments: The 13th-century church and the Loges chapel, a 15th-century jewel, are open to the public every day of the year. Every year, on the occasion of the Heritage Days in September, the community of nuns gives the public very wide access to the Priory.

The Morvan forest, at the heart of public debate, reflects a rich history: medieval nursery forest, timber rafting to Paris, then modern softwood plantations. These transformations have left a lasting mark on the forest landscape. Vincent Balland, Doctor of Environmental History, and Jean Cacot, from the Mont Beuvray forestry laboratory, reveal the traces of this history, highlighting the impact of this heritage on today's ecosystems.

Our rural workshop, created by the Spire Création Association, is celebrating its 25th anniversary. Originally set up in Ligny en Brionnais, in the south of the Saône et Loire between Marcigny and Charlieu, the Association welcomed its students and trainees for many years in a renovated stable with whitewashed walls. Some people didn't hesitate to come from Gueugnon, Macon, Roanne, Paray le Monial and Marcigny to take part in the sessions and courses.

The Morvan forest, at the heart of public debate, reflects a rich history: medieval nursery forest, timber rafting to Paris, then modern softwood plantations. These transformations have left a lasting mark on the forest landscape. Vincent Balland, Doctor of Environmental History, and Jean Cacot, from the Mont Beuvray forestry laboratory, reveal the traces of this history, highlighting the impact of this heritage on today's ecosystems.
